President's Message

Hello and welcome to my final President's message.

It has been a true honor to serve the NHPPA as President over the last year. I can only hope that I have upheld the mission and goals of this association, and I look forward to serving as Conference Chair over the next year.

I am handing over the position to Tanya Hervey, who has been a great asset since joining the association. I want to sincerely thank the entire NHPPA board for their continued support, hard work and assistance with everything from monthly meetings and hospitality to budgets, speaker procurement, and of course the year-long project of the Annual Conference.

Everyone involved does their job on a volunteer basis, getting their jobs done between their personal lives, photo businesses, and other life requirements. Sometimes this is not easy and the unending effort by all is appreciated and quite impressive.

I have every confidence that Tanya and her incoming board will not only continue the tradition and purpose of the NHPPA, but will work tirelessly to make this association the best it can be. Thank you all for your confidence and trust, and I look forward to the next chapter for myself and the NHPPA.

Cheers,
Jim Carlen M.Photog., C.P.P., A.C.Ph.

Monthly Meeting

Photography on the Edge
 with Jay Philbrick
www.PhilbrickPhoto.com
Wednesday, June 5, 2019
 6 to 9:30 p.m. | Derryfield Country Club

In this dramatic slide show presentation, Jay will describe the creative process behind the making of the images that went viral and have been televised worldwide. He will share the back story of how a local photographer became a viral sensation on the Internet and discuss the making of some of the most amazing environmental portraits you'll ever see. He will also discuss how Philbrick Photography has managed to stand out from the crowd in today's incredibly saturated photography market.

Jay Philbrick is a professional, full-time photographer living and working out of North Conway. He has been an avid photographer since the mid-1970s, and since 2001 Jay has been doing all his photography digitally. He does extensive and distinctive post processing of his images to bring out the best that his photographs have to offer.

Jay goes to great lengths to create unique and lasting images for his clients. Being an ex-Air Force pilot and climbing guide, Jay's adventurous nature shows in his imagery. His distinct style is well documented in his images of brides, couples, dancers, and others. He often incorporates unusual and sometimes difficult to access locations with precise posing to create dramatic portraits and imagery.

Jay's work has been published worldwide in numerous print magazines and internet blogs and articles. His work has also been featured on television networks worldwide. He is actively sought out by models, actors, authors, pageant competitors, and others who need the perfect image that will portray who they are. He is always assisted in his work by his wife, Vicki, who is also an accomplished photographer and who has a degree in photography.

The scenery of the White Mountains provides Jay with endless inspiration and opportunities for his landscape, nature, and adventure sports photography. He also travels to destinations in search of unique landscape and nature images. He has collections of dramatic landscape and portrait photographs from all over the desert Southwest of the United States and Europe, and he and his wife will soon be departing on another trip to the Southwest for more such images.

Monitor calibration is viewed by many as an essential element in creating and producing high quality digital images. Unfortunately, monitor calibration is often misunderstood and/or ignored by many professional photographers. This is unfortunate because without viewing your images on a calibrated monitor, you are handicapping yourself, your work, and your income.

During this program you will learn:

- The technical reasons why monitor calibration is important
- How to calibrate a monitor
- Setting up your workspace for viewing your monitor and adjusting your images
- Understanding the importance of a quality monitor and video card for your computer
- Why your laptop computer isn't the best choice to use for correcting your files
- Relationship of monitor calibration and sRGB and RGB (Adobe) color
